

Worksystems Presents: The Good Jobs Institute and Business Engagement Strategies

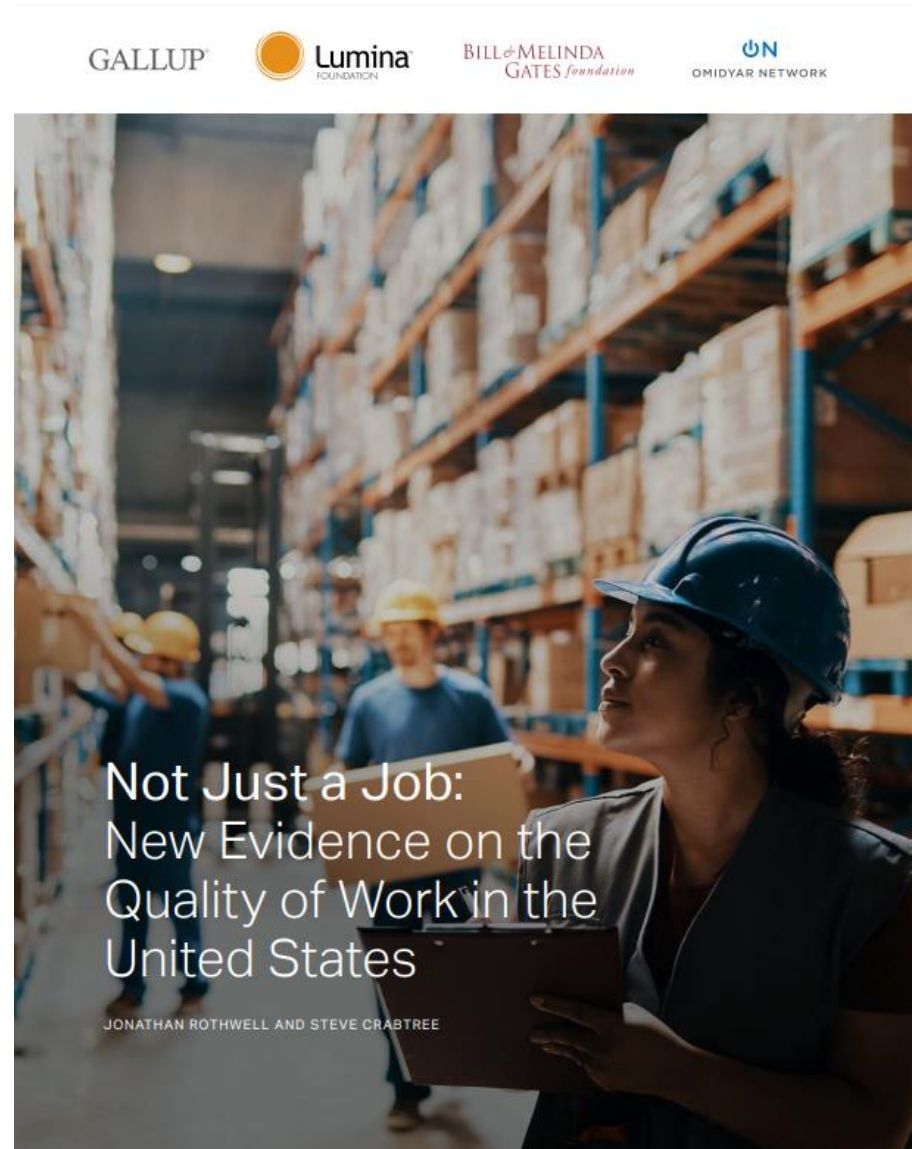

Learn the business case for good jobs and how Worksystems is partnering with the Good Job Institute to bring their success stories of helping employers develop sustainable strategies that benefit employees, customers, and investors alike to our region.

Not Just a Job

Only 40% of employed Americans are in good jobs.

In terms of defining a good job, these factors rated higher than pay:

- Enjoying their day-to-day work
- Having stable and predictable pay
- Having a sense of purpose
